Education

Ph.D Marine Biology – Texas A&M University at Galveston	Present
M.S. Biology – California State University, Long Beach	2013
B.S. Marine Biology – University of Hawai'i at Manoa	2009

Research Experience

Graduate assistant: Department of Marine Biology – Texas A&M University at Galveston (Drs. David Wells, Jay Rooker)	2014–present
➤ Piloting small craft in coastal waters, deployment of vertical longline gear, multibeam sonar, and water quality monitoring equipment.
Field consultant: Center for Marine Biodiversity and Conservation, Scripps Institution of Oceanography (Dr. Brad Erisman)	2013–present
➤ Deployment of acoustic monitoring equipment via SCUBA, capture and tagging of Gulf Grouper.
Research technician: Science and Conservation of Fish Aggregations (SCRFA) (Drs. Brad Erisman, Yvonne Sadovy)	2013
➤ Entry, summary and meta-analysis of data gathered from comprehensive review of peer-reviewed records of fish spawning aggregations.
Graduate assistant: Marine Lab - California State University, Long Beach (Yvette Ralph)	2010–2013
➤ Design, construction of research and educational aquaria. Collection, husbandry of marine life for research, teaching and public outreach.
Field research assistant: Lowe Lab - California State University, Long Beach (Dr. Chris Lowe)	2010–2013
➤ Capture, tagging and active tracking of gamefishes, sharks. Deployment and retrieval of acoustic listening stations.
Fieldwork assistant: Hawai'i Institute of Marine Biology Shark Lab, Hawaii (Drs. Yannis Papastamatiou, Kim Holland)	2006–2010
➤ Capture, handling and tagging of large sharks, tunas, billfish with acoustic and satellite telemetry tags.

Teaching Experience

Teaching assistant: Department of Marine Biology – Texas A&M University at Galveston (Dr. David Wells)	2015–2016
➤ Teaching assistant for ichthyology labs

Teaching assistant: Department of Biological Sciences - California State University 2010–2012
Long Beach
(Drs. Christine Palmier, Gwen Goodmanlowe)
➤ Taught introductory biology labs for majors and non-majors
